SLAV ARMY HOLDING CHIEF ESCAPE PORT OF ITALIANS IN ALBANIA

By The Associated Press
Greek front-line dispatches said today that German Panzer columns had failed in their drive against the strengthening British-Greek line, and London reported that British infantry had routed the elite "SS Adolf Hitler Division" with heavy losses in northern Greece.
Mud and snow were said to have impeded the Nazi thrust against the Allied front, stretching from Albanian mountain passes to the Gulf of Salonika.
Simultaneously, Yugoslav armies were reported to have captured Durazzo, on the Adriatic Sea, which British term the major "escape port" of Italian troops fighting in Albania.
Fascist reports acknowledged that the Yugoslavs were making strong mass assaults on Italian troops at Scutari, in northern Albania, but asserted that the Slavs had been held in check.
Highest commanders of the Greek-British forces were reported buoyantly "optimistic" that any break through the defense zone would be virtually suicidal—the costliest blitzkrieg thrust of the war.
Fresh troops, including new Greek reservists, were being rushed to threatened positions, while Allied patrols skirmished with Nazi armored scouting parties.
Reports from the front said the Germans, still busy mopping up Yugoslav troops fighting at their rear, were bringing up reinforcements for a strong offensive into Greece.

MINISTER FROM DENMARK WILL IGNORE RECALL

Action Taken By Copenhagen Government For Granting Military Defense Sites to United States In Greenland

PAYS VISIT TO HULL

Washington, April 14.—(P)—Henrik De Kauffmann, the Danish minister, advised Secretary of State Hull by formal note today of his refusal to recognize recall orders from the Copenhagen government for his granting of military defense sites to the United States in Danish Greenland.
Before going into Hull's office, the minister told reporters that he had received a recall order signed "foreign office" but that formal letters of recall from the king of Denmark had not yet reached him.
Although he said he understood the Copenhagen government had declared the agreement invalid, the minister said he had not received official notice to this effect.
De Kauffmann called on Secretary Hull to clarify his own position in connection with the conflict with the government in German-occupied Denmark and to obtain an official statement of the American government's attitude.

WEDDING BELLS RING TODAY FOR PRESIDENT'S SON

Beverly Hills, Calif., April 14.—(P)—This is Jimmy Roosevelt's wedding day, his former nurse to become his bride.
The ceremony which would make Theresa Schneider a Roosevelt was to be conducted this afternoon (about 4 p. m., EST), by Municipal Judge Arthur S. Guerin at the home of George P. Converse and Mrs. Converse, the former actress Anita Stewart.
In addition to members of the two families—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, mother of James; Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger, of Seattle, his brother-in-law and sister, and the bride's mother, brother, and two sisters—only 15 or 20 friends of the couple were invited.
Miss Schneider is a Catholic. James has been divorced from the former Betty Cushing, of Boston. Roosevelt said he regretted that the divorce made it impossible (Turn to Page Nine)

Brief Associated Press News Dispatches

London, April 14.—(P)—Withdrawal of British forces to new positions in Greece was reported in a war office communique tonight. The British retired only after they had inflicted "severe casualties" on the Germans, it was claimed.
Berlin, April 14.—(P)—DNE, official German news agency, declared today that British troops trapped at Tobruk were trying to escape by sea, but were under a Dunkerque-like aerial bombardment. Dive bombers were said to be smashing at transports and other vessels in the Libyan harbor.
London, April 14.—(P)—A Norwegian warship, operating under an agreement with British naval forces, was reported authoritatively today to have raided the northern coast of German-held Norway yesterday. Norwegian circles here said they had learned no details of the raid.

S. Steel Corporation, the world's leading producer of defense-important steel.
Prior to resumption of the conference, president of all SWOC local units in U. S. Steel mills met to discuss the negotiations. At previous meetings, the local presidents authorized opening of formal negotiations on wage demands and later approved a threat (Turn to Page Nine)

RESUME PRODUCTION AT DEARBORN PLANT

Detroit, April 14.—(P)—A vanguard of approximately 20,000 workers moved into the Ford Motor Co. Rouge plant in suburban Dearborn today to resume production after settlement Friday of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) strike.
The early group of the company's 85,000 Rouge plant employees included men in open-production units. Full-time production on assembly lines is expected to get under way in 10 days or two weeks.
The company is using daily newspaper advertisements to advise workers in various divisions when to work.

WAGE INCREASE BY BETHLEHEM STEEL GRANTED

Johnstown, Pa., April 16.—(P)—Sydney B. Evans, management representative of the Bethlehem Steel Company, today announced a ten-cents an hour wage increase for "all hourly, piecework, and tonnage employees." Evans said the action affects approximately 90,000 employees in all Bethlehem plants.
The announcement was made to committees representing the Steel Workers Organizing Committee (CIO) and the Employees Representative Plan who had been summoned to Evans' office.
The statement said: "Responsive to the requests of employees and their representatives and to discussions which have taken place between them and the management over the past several months, Bethlehem Steel Company announces that effective April 1, it will increase the wages by ten cents per hour of all hourly, piecework and tonnage employees in its steel plants, and equitable pay- (Turn to Page Nine)

POPE PIUS XII SENDS MESSAGE URGING PEACE

Pontiff, In Easter Broadcast, Calls Upon Belligerents To Show Charitable Feeling For Civilian Populations

CALLS FOR PRAYERS

Vatican City, April 14.—(P)—Pope Pius XII urged in an Easter message that belligerents "show some feeling of charity for the sufferings of civilian populations" and that conquerors deal "justly, humanely and providently" with peoples in occupied territories.
In a 20-minute broadcast over the Vatican radio, the pontiff called upon Catholics to pray for an early and just peace.
"Let us pray for universal peace," he said, "not for peace based upon the oppression and destruction of peoples, but peace which, while guaranteeing the honor of all nations, will satisfy their vital needs and insure the legitimate rights of all."
The pontiff spoke of his own prayers and efforts to humanize the methods of war, alleviate suffering, comfort war victims, and emphasize principles necessary to future peace, and then added:
"But we are saddened to note that there seems to be as yet little likelihood of an approximate realization of peace that will be just, in accordance with human and Christian norms."
He spoke of the present as "these merciless and bitter days" and of the war as a "ruthless struggle" which at times "can be described only as atrocious."
To spare even worse developments, he urged all belligerents to "abstain until the very end from the use of still more homicidal instruments of warfare."
The Pope's benediction, like the message, was delivered from his library after he cancelled his usual Sunday morning audience.

INNOCENT PLEA IS ENTERED BY RETIRED JUDGE

Philadelphia, April 14.—(P)—J. Warren Davis, retired U. S. circuit court judge, and Morgan S. Kaufman, a lawyer, pleaded innocent today to a charge of "conspiracy to obstruct justice and defraud the United States" and their trial was set to open on May 19 in district court.
William Fox, 62-year-old bankrupt movie producer, already has pleaded guilty to the charge, which carries a maximum penalty of two years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.
Judge Davis is the second member of the federal judiciary ever to face such an accusation in the nation's history, court attaches said.
The trio was indicted March 28 by a federal grand jury which reported it found evidence that they conspired to obtain through financial favors "actions favorable" to Fox in bankruptcy matters pending before the third U. S. circuit court of appeals, of which Davis was then an active member.
Former Circuit Judge Martin T. Manton of New York was convicted on a similar indictment which had no connection with this case.
District Judge Robert N. Pollard of Richmond, Va., was assigned to the Davis case by Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes of the United States.

Fleeing Prisoner, Guard and Ossining Policemen Shot As Trio Attempts Escape From Sing Sing; Two Are Captured in Woods Across Hudson River By Patrolman

INFIRMARY PATIENT SUCCUMBS TO SHOCK

Ossining, N. Y., April 14.—(P)—Two long-term convicts who shot their way out of the Sing Sing prison infirmary in a sensational break which cost four lives were captured a few hours later today in the woods across the Hudson river.

The two gray-clad convicts, still armed with snuggled guns with which they and a confederate, who was later slain, had broken from the prison in a battle in which a prison guard and an Ossining policeman were killed and a convict patient died of shock, were cornered on the slope of Mount Hood in Palisades Interstate Park.

Patrolman William Mullen, an experienced woodsman member of the park's police and one of 250 peace officers trailing them, chased them from underbrush within a mile of the shore point from which they had fled forcing a fisherman to ferry them across the river.
The convicts, Joseph Riordan and Charles McGale, both under sentence for robbery, appeared dazed when Patrolman Mullen stepped from behind a tree on the slope below them.
"We'll come down," one said. Other police quickly disarmed them and rushed them to Nyack, N. Y. police headquarters for questioning before being taken back across the Hudson to Sing Sing.

In their desperate short-lived bid for freedom, Riordan, McGale, and John Watters, 30, the slain member of the trio, shot and killed one infirmarian guard, overpowered the other, crawled several hundred yards through a tunnel leading outside the prison, and slew an Ossining policeman in a running gun fight.

The dead: John Hartley, prison guard; John Watters, 30, alias Tom Higgins, serving a 15-to-20 year term for armed robbery; James Fagan, 35, Ossining patrolman.

McGovern Miller, 35, convicted rapist in the infirmary for treatment for heart disease. Miller collapsed and died of excitement when Riordan and Watters, who had feigned illness to gain entry into the infirmary, and McGale, a trusty, suddenly pulled out smuggled guns and shot Hartley.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME OF FORMER OFFICIAL

Bloomersville, Pa., April 14.—(P)—Flames destroyed "Millhouse Mansion," home of Arthur W. Howe, Jr., former secretary of public assistance, near here Sunday, at an estimated loss of $12,000.
Howe expected to move to a newly-built home in Chestnut Hill next Thursday. Howe fled from the fire, which followed explosion of an oil stove in the kitchen, in pajamas and dressing gown.
His wife, Mrs. Willie Howe, and their daughter, Rosemary, and a child of Harrisburg, also were at home when the fire started.

FEAR CONSEQUENCES

Washington, April 14.—(P)—Critics of administration foreign policy forecast today that the long-developing debate over a proposal to forbid U. S. naval escorts for war materials would break wide open in the Senate this week.

The convoy question is of main immediate concern to legislators returning to the capital from Easter vacations today and their interest was sharpened by these two developments:

1. President Roosevelt's removal of the Red sea from the list of waters closed to American shipping under the Neutrality Act—an action which raised discussions in congressional circles as to what protection might be given U. S. cargo vessels in event they were attacked while delivering British war supplies to Suez canal ports.

2. Announcement of the Russo-Japanese neutrality agreement yesterday—four or five naval convicts said this would free the Japanese for further southward moves in the Orient and provided them with a strong argument for not diverting any naval vessels to convoy duty.

The issue of whether Congress should prohibit specifically conveying of war shipments will be considered by the Senate foreign relations committee Wednesday. Before the committee is a resolution by Senator Tobey (R-N.H.) to forbid conveying.

Indications were that the committee, with administration forces in control, would pigeonhole it.
But Tobey asserted that he and other opponents would debate conveying whether the resolution reached the floor or not.

Little congressional action was in prospect today since the opening of the baseball season, which always empties the capitol, held the legislative schedule to routine matters.

The Senate planned to take up a $1,132,000 treasury-postoffice appropriation bill put to postpone debate until tomorrow, and the House arranged to act on District of Columbia bills.

RIFT CONTINUES TO CLOUD SOFT COAL SITUATION

New York, April 14.—(P)—The rift in the bogged-down soft coal industry continued today to cloud hopes for an early settlement of a union-operator dispute which has kept more than 400,000 miners idle since April 1.

Southern operators, refusing to agree to parity wage payments with their northern associates, said they would not attend a scheduled conference here this afternoon between labor-management representatives and Chief Federal Conciliator John R. Steelman.

They were scheduled to meet in Washington with lawyers and statisticians to prepare a brief for submission to the National Labor Relations Board in the event the case is certified to that body.

Smoking and Fire-Building Banned At Start Of Trout Fishing Season

Extremely critical fire conditions exist today on the eve of the opening of Pennsylvania's trout season, and anglers are urged to exercise unusual caution while in the woods tomorrow.
With the opening of the season, it is expected that there will be 10,000 fishermen along the streams within the Allegheny National Forest in Warren, McKean, Elk and Forest counties, this causing a tremendous increase in the fire hazard.
In order to control this serious situation, it has become necessary for the forestry officials to forbid smoking and the building of cook-

NEW ACCORD, BINDING NATIONS FOR FIRST TIME SINCE BOLSHIEVIST REVOLUTIONS, REGARDED AS IMPORTANT DIPLOMATIC STROKE; THE TREATY TO BE IN EFFECT FIVE YEARS

MAIN PRIZE OF JAPANESE MINISTER'S JOURNEY

Washington, April 14.—(P)—Secretary Hull declared today that the new Russian-Japanese neutrality pact "could be overestimated" and that the policy of the American government remained unchanged.

BULLETIN

Moscow, April 14.—(P)—For the first time since the Bolshevik revolution 14 years ago, Soviet Russia and Japan were bound together today in a neutrality pact regarded by observers here as the most important diplomatic stroke since the Moscow-Berlin accord of 1939 which preceded the German march into Poland.

The Easter Sunday accord, which pledges each nation to remain neutral in the event the other is made "the object of hostilities on the part of one or several third powers," was the main prize of Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka's three-week European tour to Moscow, Berlin and Rome.

Matsuoka left for Tokyo only a short time after signing the pact. Joseph Stalin saw him off, the first time Stalin ever has been known to pay such a tribute to a visiting statesman.

The treaty, valid for five years, pledges the two powers to respect each other's "territorial integrity and inviolability."

It was accompanied by a declaration specifying that Japan would respect the borders of the Russian-dominated Outer Mongolian People's Republic and the Soviet would do the same for Japanese-sponsored Manchukuo.

Wholly different reactions came swiftly from the world capitals.

Two schools of thought expressed themselves in Washington—one that the pact foreshadowed far eastern developments unfavorable to American-British policy in the Orient and the other speculating that it might bring developments in line with British-American interests in Europe.

DEATH ENDS CAREER OF NOTED ASTRONOMER

Cambridge, Mass., April 14.—(P)—Death has ended the career of Dr. Annie Jump Cannon, 77, world-famed Harvard astronomer who declined to give up her work even though she had been officially retired.

She was retired by Harvard last September after 44 years of service, because she had attained the compulsory retirement age.

MINISTER FROM DENMARK WILL IGNORE RECALL

Action Taken By Copenhagen Government For Granting Military Defense Sites to United States In Greenland

PAYS VISIT TO HULL

Washington, April 14.—(P)—Henrik De Kauffmann, the Danish minister, advised Secretary of State Hull by formal note today of his refusal to recognize recall orders from the Copenhagen government for his granting of military defense sites to the United States in Greenland.

Before going into Hull's office, the minister told reporters that he had received a recall order signed "foreign office" but that formal letters of recall from the king of Denmark had not yet reached him.

Although he said he understood the Copenhagen government had declared the agreement invalid, the minister said he had not received official notice to this effect.

De Kauffmann called on Secretary Hull to clarify his own position in connection with the conflict with the government in German-occupied Denmark and to obtain an official statement of the American government's attitude.

It was clear that the American government would uphold the minister and continue to regard him as the Danish minister in this country.

When the agreement was signed, giving the United States the right to establish any defenses necessary for the protection of Greenland, it was explained that the Danish minister acted on behalf of the king and with the concurrence of the governors of Greenland.

It was asserted also that the American government considered that the king and the government in Copenhagen were not free to exercise their sovereignty over Greenland.

The minister said today that he had given Copenhagen no advance notice that he intended to sign the agreement.

He also asserted that he had ignored instructions from Copenhagen to lodge a protest with the American government over the seizure of 39 Danish merchant ships in American ports. He said, however, that he was seeking in (Turn to Page Nine)

British Refugee Children Join In Annual White House Egg Rolling

BY RUTH COWAN
Washington, April 14.—(P)—One hundred and thirty-two British refugee children, who are not accustomed to take the Easter bunny as seriously as do American youngsters, converged on the White House today to find out first hand about a special American custom—the Easter egg roll.

These refugees, ages 6 to 16, who are living in Washington and nearby Maryland and Virginia towns, were invited by Mrs. Frank D. Roosevelt to the traditional children's party at which thousands of youngsters annually frolic on the spacious White House lawn.

Good weather was forecast and gloomy gardeners with a last look at the newly green grass anticipated a record attendance of egg rollers. The largest gate count for the Easter party was in 1939 when 53,100 children and their adult companions attended but last year the coldest Easter Monday in the weather bureau's memory, cut the attendance to 31,481.

Custom has it that the White House gates swing open at 9 a. m. to children under ten years of age. The rules say: "No adults admitted unless accompanied by children," but sharp-eyed grownups have been known to find an escort for hire in the price of an ice cream cone.

The egg roll began back in the days of President Grant. It originated in Capitol Hill, but the grounds keepers didn't like it and some legislators thought the eggshells left about might give visitors (Turn to Page Two)

Fleeing Prisoner, Guard and Ossining Policemen Shot As Trio Attempts Escape From Sing Sing; Two Are Captured in Woods Across Hudson River By Patrolman

INFIRMARY PATIENT SUCCUMBS TO SHOCK

Ossining, N. Y., April 14.—(P)—Two long-term convicts who shot their way out of the Sing Sing prison infirmary in a sensational break which cost four lives were captured a few hours later today in the woods across the Hudson river.

The two gray-clad convicts, still armed with smuggled guns with which they and a confederate, who was later slain, had broken from the prison in a battle in which a prison guard and an Ossining policeman were killed and a convict patient died of shock, were cornered on the slope of Mount Hood in Palisades Interstate Park.

EXPECT DEBATE ON CONVOY BILL TO START SOON

Critics of Administration Foreign Policy Predict Battle to Break Wide Open In Senate During Coming Week

FEAR CONSEQUENCES

Washington, April 14.—(P)—Critics of administration foreign policy forecast today that the long-developing debate over a proposal to forbid U. S. naval escorts for war materials would break wide open in the Senate this week.

The convoy question is of main immediate concern to legislators returning to the capital from Easter vacations today and their interest was sharpened by these two developments:

1. President Roosevelt's removal of the Red Sea from the list of waters closed to American shipping under the Neutrality Act—an action which raised discussions in congressional circles as to what protection might be given U. S. cargo vessels in event they were attacked while delivering British war supplies to Suez canal ports.

2. Announcement of the Russo-Japanese neutrality agreement yesterday—foes of naval convoys said this pact would free the Japanese for further southward moves in the Orient and provided them with a strong argument for not diverting any naval vessels to convoy duty.

The issue of whether Congress should prohibit specifically conveying of war shipments will be considered by the Senate foreign relations committee Wednesday. Before the committee is a resolution by Senator Tobey (R-NH) to forbid conveying. Indications were that the committee, with administration forces in control, would pigeonhole it.

But Tobey asserted that he and other opponents would debate conveying whether the resolution reached the floor or not.

Little congressional action was in prospect today since the opening of the baseball season, which always empties the capitol, held the legislative schedule to routine matters.

The Senate planned to take up a $152,000,000 treasury-postoffice appropriation bill to postpone debate until tomorrow, and the House arranged to act on District of Columbia bills.

RIFT CONTINUES TO CLOUD SOFT COAL SITUATION

New York, April 14.—(P)—The rift in the bogged-down soft coal industry continued today to cloud hopes for an early settlement of a union-operator dispute which has kept more than 400,000 miners idle since April 1.

Southern operators, refusing to agree to parity wage payments with their northern associates, said they would not attend a scheduled conference here this afternoon between labor-management representatives and Chief Federal Conciliator John R. Steelman.

They were scheduled to meet in Washington with lawyers and statisticians to prepare a brief for submission to the National Labor Relations Board in the event the case is certified to that body.

Smoking and Fire-Building Banned At Start Of Trout Fishing Season

Extremely critical fire conditions exist today on the eve of the opening of Pennsylvania's trout season, and anglers are urged to exercise unusual caution while in the woods tomorrow.

With the opening of the season, it is expected that there will be 10,000 fishermen along the streams within the Allegheny National Forest in Warren, McKean, Elk and Forest counties, thus causing a tremendous increase in the fire hazard.

In order to control this serious situation, it has become necessary for the forestry officials to forbid smoking and the building of cooking, warming or any other kind of camp fires within the Allegheny National Forest until further notice.

Supervisor R. F. Hemingway today urged everyone entering the woods to be more careful than ever before.

With a week of unusually dry weather preceding the opening of the season, fishermen will find the streams in fine condition. A stocking program of considerable size has been carried on by the state, and it is expected that a record crowd of Izaak Walton disciples will take to the fields and woods tomorrow.

DEATH ENDS CAREER OF NOTED ASTRONOMER

Cambridge, Mass., April 14.—(P)—Death has ended the career of Dr. Annie Jump Cannon, 77, world-famed Harvard astronomer who declined to give up her work even though she had been officially retired.

The gentle, silver-haired scientist who had classified by their spectra more stars than any other person in the world, died last night at a hospital from a sudden relapse of a month-long illness.

She was retired by Harvard last September after 44 years of service, because she had attained the compulsory retirement age.

Brief Associated Press News Dispatches

London, April 14.—(P)—Withdrawal of British forces to new positions in Greece was reported in a war office communique tonight. The British retired only after they had inflicted "severe casualties" on the Germans, it was claimed.

Berlin, April 14.—(P)—DNE, official German news agency, declared today that British troops trapped at Tobruk were trying to escape by sea, but were under a Dunkerque-like aerial bombardment. Dive bombers were said to be smashing at transports and other vessels in that Libyan harbor.

London, April 14.—(P)—A Norwegian warship, operating under an agreement with British naval forces, was reported authoritatively today to have raided the northern coast of German-held Norway yesterday. Norwegian circles here said they had learned no details of the raid.

SKULL FRACTURE PROVES FATAL TO WARREN MAN

Injured in a fall on the street early Saturday evening, Henry W. Steinkamp, 57, passed away Sunday morning at 3:30 o'clock in the Warren General Hospital. The attending physician gave the cause of death as a fractured skull.

According to statements given by Coroner E. C. Lowrey by witnesses, Steinkamp was engaged in a conversation with Thomas McCarthy and William McGuckin, near the intersection of Liberty street and Pennsylvania avenue, when he lost his balance and fell to the sidewalk. He was rushed to the hospital, where he succumbed nine hours later.

Coroner Lowrey empaneled a jury composed of A. E. Johnson, Charles Duff, John Hughes, Ray Weigel, William E. Rice and Robert Wolfe. Pending completion of the investigation it had not been determined whether an inquest would be held.

Mr. Steinkamp was born November 26, 1883, and had been a lifelong resident of this community. Besides his wife, Katherine, he is survived by the following children: Mrs. John Timmis, Mrs. Kenneth Williams, Mrs. Owen Lester, Miss Anne Steinkamp, Paul and John Steinkamp, of this city. A sister, Mrs. Vern Camp, Robinson, Ill., and two brothers, William Steinkamp and Charles Meyers, of this city, also survive. A daughter, Margaret, preceded her father in death in 1927.

Removal was made to the Peterson Funeral Home where friends may call and where funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. E. P. Wroth, rector of Trinity Memorial church, officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Survey Of Employment In Business And Industry Being Conducted By Community Chest Officials Here

A survey of employment in all phases of business and industry in Warren is being conducted this week by the Community Chest, it was announced today by the Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, Chest president.

The purpose of this survey, he said, is two-fold—first, to discover the status of employment in the community as compared with the figures of last year and, second, to assist the Community Chest office to clear its files of former donors who are unemployed or removed from the community.

Survey forms have been mailed to a number of larger places of employment, asking that they be filled in and returned by tomorrow. Supplementing this mailing will be an enumeration of employees and executives of other concerns through a direct call by a representative of the Community Chest office. It is anticipated that the entire procedure be completed before the end of this week.

Mr. Wroth, in discussing the survey, pointed out that it has a very logical basis.

"The needs of the agencies this year have demanded that we apportion a goal of $41,800, which represents a substantial increase over our attainment in the last campaign," he said. "If this money is to be secured, it stands to reason that we must carry the campaign to every employed person in this community. Through the survey we hope to add to our list of prospects the names of new employees and newcomers to Warren and at the same time to eliminate the names of those who are no longer employed here."

Early returns from the employment census indicate full cooperation on the part of business and industry, according to Mr. Wroth. Campaign headquarters have been established in the Warren Bank and Trust Company building and preliminary work for the forthcoming campaign is under way. The campaign is scheduled to close on May 9.

AIRMAIL PICKUP ROUTE MAY GO INTO BUFFALO

In an application filed today with the Civil Aeronautics board by All American Aviation, Inc., the air-mail pickup system, by which this city is served, would be extended to 64 additional cities in New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The Pittsburgh-Jamestown route which serves Warren, would be extended into Buffalo and would include 23 new intermediate points, 17 in New York and six in Pennsylvania.

The additional Pennsylvania points are Meadville, Erie, Kane and Bradford, and New York cities are Salamanca, Olean, Wellsville, Hornell, Dansville, Hammondsport, Penn Yan, Geneva, Canandaigua, Honeoye Falls, Rochester, Batavia, Medina, Lockport, Niagara Falls, Tonawanda and Dunkirk.

Four of the cities on the projected Pittsburgh-Buffalo route, Kane, Bradford, Olean and Salamanca, have filed a joint application for pick-up service with the aeronautics board.

The other proposed new lines are:

Pittsburgh to Cincinnati via Columbus and 16 other intermediate points and Pittsburgh to Columbus via 20 intermediate points.

All American's present service serves 108 cities in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Delaware and New York. The amendment for which the company would add 1,196 miles to its routes and provide direct daily mail service to an additional million and a half people.

LITTLE JACK LITTLE AND HIS ORCHESTRA AT LIBRARY
TUESDAY
"Dance orchestras and their leaders should always bear one thing in mind, and that is that their primary reason for existence is to play dance music." That is how Little Jack Little, personable maestro who brings his band to the Library Theatre one day only Tuesday afternoon and evening expresses his ideas on the subject of dance music.

Continuing, Little adds, "A dancer is interested chiefly in rhythm. Though the fancy embellishments may sound fine on the air, when the crowd is on the dance floor, what they want is Rhythm. Rhythm, and more Rhythm. Some dancers want swing music, others prefer the sweet variety of tunes. All of them have to be pleased so that by presenting a varied program and by mixing them up we attempt to satisfy the moods of all schools of thought."

MAY BUY PUMPER
Prompted by the narrow escape from a disastrous blaze attending Thursday's grass fire, the Columbus Fire Department took steps Tuesday evening toward the purchase of equipment to more successfully cope with fires in the village and vicinity. A meeting called by the firemen's organization brought out a fair-sized crowd and it was decided to inquire into the purchase of a small pumper and booster tank. A committee composed of Arthur Hill, "Doc" Reagle and Lester Howies was named to obtain information and an early authorization of purchase is expected if satisfactory apparatus can be procured at a reasonable cost.

AIMED AT GASOLINE WARS
A bill which would enable gasoline and oil companies to regulate the price of their products from every gasoline pump and oil can bearing their trade name is up for final passage in the House tonight. The bill probably would have the effect of ending cut-throat gasoline wars in all but stations which do not deal in the trade-name products, provided the major companies agreed on prices. The bill provides that where the vending equipment from which a commodity is sold bears the trade name of the producer, such producer can legally make a contract that the commodity will not be sold or resold except at a price stipulated or sale of goods at less than the price set in the contract would be held unlawful competition and would lay the person making such a sale open to legal action by the firm from which he bought the product.

SKULL FRACTURE PROVES FATAL TO WARREN MAN

Injured in a fall on the street early Saturday evening, Henry W. Steinkamp, 57, passed away Sunday morning at 3:30 o'clock in the Warren General Hospital. The attending physician gave the cause of death as a fractured skull.

According to statements given Coroner E. C. Lowrey by witnesses, Steinkamp was engaged in a conversation with Thomas McCarty and William McGuckin, near the intersection of Liberty street and Pennsylvania avenue, when he lost his balance and fell to the sidewalk. He was rushed to the hospital, where he succumbed nine hours later.

Coroner Lowrey empaneled a jury composed of A. E. Johnson, Charles Duff, John Hughes, Ray Weigel, William E. Rice and Robert Wolfe. Pending completion of the investigation it had not been determined whether an inquest would be held.

Mr. Steinkamp was born November 26, 1883, and had been a lifelong resident of this community. TITUSVILLE BUSY
Industrial employment in Titusville is probably at an all-time high. According to records at the Chamber of Commerce, which are rechecked once a month, 2,227 were on the payrolls of Titusville industries in March, an increase of 766 over the corresponding month a year ago.

FIREMEN STILL BUSY
The epidemic of grass fires continued over the weekend with blazes at Wood and Alexander streets at 3:42 yesterday afternoon, and similar fires on Oak street and Central avenue, within twenty minutes Saturday afternoon. In addition to the grass fires, the department also extinguished a fire in a truck owned by Harrison & Shickles, of Pittsfield, Saturday afternoon on Union street, and a small blaze in a dwelling at 308 Water street Saturday evening.

LOCAL GIRL INJURED

Velma Craft, 21, 308 Poplar street, this city, is a patient in Jamestown General Hospital, suffering with a possible concussion received shortly before midnight last night when the car in which she was a passenger was involved in a crash at the intersection of West Eighth and Washington streets, Jamestown. The hospital reports her condition as fairly good. Miss Craft was riding in a car driven by Louis Vizza, Coraopolis, Pa., which collided with a machine operated by Frank E. Stow, of Ashville. No one else was injured.

EASTER HIKE

Easter Sunday afternoon brought out only twenty-one hikers for the Allegheny Hiking Club's fifty-third trip. However, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Mickelson a very pleasant trip was made back of the Siggins farm in Sugar Grove township, over the "hogsback" and up into Swede Hollow returning over Teal Hill. Shost, and a side road covering about five miles of walking. Members of the club are planning for a party later this month at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Perry McDannel, and a tentative date is set for either Friday, April 25th, or one week later.

MAY BUY PUMPER

Prompted by the narrow escape from a disastrous blaze attending Thursday's grass fire, the Columbus Fire Department took steps Friday evening toward the purchase of equipment to more successfully cope with fires in the village and vicinity. A meeting called by the firemen's organization brought out a full-sized crowd and it was decided to inquire into the purchase of a small pumper and booster tank. A committee composed of Arthur Hill, "Doc" Reagle and Lester Howies was named to obtain information and an early authorization of purchase is expected if satisfactory apparatus can be procured at a reasonable cost.

AIMED AT GASOLINE WARS

A bill which would enable gasoline and oil companies to regulate the price of their products from every gasoline pump and oil can bearing their trade name is up for final passage in the House tonight. The bill probably would have the effect of ending cut-throat gasoline wars in all but stations which do not deal in the trade-name products, provided the major companies agreed on prices. The bill provides that where the vending equipment from which a commodity is sold bears the trade name of the producer, such producer can legally make a contract that the commodity will not be sold or resold except at a price stipulated by the distributor. The advertising or sale of goods at less than the price set in the contract would be held unfair competition and would lay the person making such a sale open to legal action by the firm from which he bought the product.

Survey Of Employment In Business And Industry Being Conducted By Community Chest Officials Here

A survey of employment in all phases of business and industry in Warren is being conducted this week by the Community Chest, it was announced today by the Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, Chest president.

The purpose of this survey, he said, is two-fold—first, to discover the status of employment in the community as compared with the figures of last year, and second, to assist the Community Chest office to clear its files of former donors who are unemployed or removed from the community.

Survey forms have been mailed to a number of larger places of employment, asking that they be filled in and returned by tomorrow. Supplementing this mailing will be an enumeration of employees and executives of other concerns through a direct call by a representative of the Community Chest office. It is anticipated that the entire procedure be completed before the end of this week.

Mr. Wroth, in discussing the survey, pointed out that it has a very logical basis.

"The needs of the agencies this year have demanded that we approve a goal of $41,800, which represents a substantial increase over our attainment in the last campaign," he said. "If this money is to be secured, it stands to reason that we must carry the campaign to every employed person in this community. Through the survey we hope to add to our list of prospects the names of new employees and newcomers to Warren and at the same time to eliminate the names of those who are no longer employed here."

Early returns from the employment census indicate full cooperation on the part of business and industry, according to Mr. Wroth. Campaign headquarters have been established in the Warren Bank and Trust Company building and preliminary work for the forthcoming campaign is under way. The campaign is scheduled to close on May 9.

As Pennsylvania swings full speed ahead into the national preparedness program, this company is tackling the biggest job in its history. Day by day the demands for service mount.

A year ago we launched a huge construction program to enlarge our plant. This year an even greater program is under way.

Right now in Pennsylvania we are spending half a million a week on new construction!

We are making an all-out drive—with manpower, materials and money—to keep telephone service fast, adequate and dependable to speed Pennsylvania's production.

MUCH INTEREST IN CONCERT BY COLLEGE CHOIR

Much interest is being shown in the sacred concert to be presented by the Upsala College a cappella choir at St. Paul's Lutheran church on Sunday afternoon, April 20, at 3:30 o'clock.

The choir, numbering 42 voices and directed by Miss Gladys Grindeland, is on a spring tour, making 14 appearances in Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio.

In the opening group, the choir will sing Bach's motet for double chorus, "Blessing, Glory, and Wisdom and Thanks," followed by selections by Kalinnikoff, Lvovsky, and a chorale from the Stralsund Gesangbuch. A second group with six numbers portrays the "Majestic Rhythm of the Church Year," and features selections by Soderman, Arkhangelsky, Hassler, Christiansen and Gretchaninoff. In the final appearance, the choir will present the works from Danish, Swedish and Finnish sources.

A local committee is perfecting arrangements for the service, which will include a brief greeting by Dr. Evald B. Lawson, president of the college and friend of many in Warren.

EAGLES TO MEET

The local aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, at which time nomination of officers will be held. A large attendance is expected.

DISCUSS PARKING METERS

Residents of Jamestown who are interested have an opportunity to appear before their council in City Hall tonight to express their opinion as to whether that city will have parking meters, and if so, what type will be purchased. For six months two types of meters have been undergoing trial in Jamestown.

FIRST SWIMMERS

Despite the fact that the water was cold enough to bring out goose pimples on the heartiest of the hearty a group of brave young men were seen in nothing less than bathing trunks, seemingly enjoying a swim in a pool near Camp Carlton, on the Red House side of Allegheny State Park yesterday.

STREAMS STOCKED

Albert Kingston last week assisted a trucker from the Corry hatchery in stocking 1,600 trout in Big Coon creek, Forest county. Of these, 800 were brook trout eight to eleven inches long, which were placed above the bridge at Golinza. The remaining 800 were rainbows, six to eighteen inches long, all placed below the same bridge.

ADVICE TO MOTORISTS

The state motor police again call attention to autoists to the state law which requires them to give the right of way to fire apparatus and similar emergency calls. Motorists, upon hearing a siren, should pull to the curb and allow the apparatus a clear way. The officers state, adding that arrests are planned unless the law is obeyed.

DEER PLENTIFUL

Fat, sleek deer, moving in herds of from three to fifty have become so tame in the French creek section that they feed on tender green shoots emerging from lawns. Most of the animals are does. Farmers, it is reported, will support conservative clubs which request that does become quarry in the 1941 open season on deer in New York state.

CORRY STRIKE SETTLED

Settlement of the strike at the Corry - Jamestown Manufacturing Company in Corry was announced Saturday, with a statement from the management that the men would return to work on Monday. John R. Hodge, state conciliator, said the agreement was reached at a meeting Friday night, when union members voted to accept a compromise contract offered by the company.

RETAIL TRADE OUTLOOK

Last week's retail trade reached a new peak for the year "in a spectacular climax of the pre-Easter selling period," Dun & Bradstreet reported in its weekly survey. The review cited reports from many centers telling of the best Easter business since the record high 12 years ago. "For all retail trade," it said, "including food volume, which ran about 12 per cent higher, the advance over the 1940 level was estimated at 15 to 18 per cent."

The northernmost point in the United States is Lake of the Woods, Minn.

WHEN HUMAN BEINGS ARE JUNK

There is always apt to be a trace of tragedy in an auction room. Things are being sold for what they will bring, things that somebody prized once, and worked and planned to possess, and which no one else will ever, perhaps, prize so much.

Most tragic of auctions, however, was held the other day at Staten Island, New York. The United States sold a warehouse full of pitiful household objects sent here by people who had hoped to get out of Europe, who never made it.

Some of the boxes had been piling up for two years or more, storage charges unpaid, taking up room that had to be found for new boxes. Egg beaters and rolling pins, pieces of silver, things valuable and worthless, useful and pitifully useless. But the people who sent them were unable to follow. So their belongings became junk, sold for storage charges and to make space.

That is sad enough. But what of the human hearts that beat so high with hope when those boxes and packages were sent to America? They are junk too, human junk, rotting and wasting away for lack of means to come to the land where they might have a chance of freedom and hope.

Thousands are standing on the piers at Libson, waiting for the ship that does not come. Other thousands are in France and Germany and Austria, in every land where the Nazi boots have trod, condemned as human junk to rot in ghettos or concentration camps, or simply to wait without help or hope.

As they have fled from country to country in an effort to keep ahead of the Nazi legions, time after time those legions have caught up with them, subjecting certain ones to summary punishment, others merely to abandonment in that vast human junk yard which Adolf Hitler has made of half of Europe.

But ships to Libson, last "escape-hatch" of Europe, are few and far between. Even those who have run the whole gauntlet, and arrived at Libson with all proper credentials, have no assurance of flight to the New World. And any day the hob-nailed boots may come tramping into Portugal.

Surely it must be possible to do something to reclaim this human junk. They are people, men and women and children who live and breathe and feel and think (God help them) and who perhaps have not ceased entirely to hope.

A way was found to put to use the goods they sent before them. Can not the New World find a way to use their lives as well?

YEARS OF DISCRETION

If speech be silver and silence golden—and an old saying avers it is so—then Justice Hughes at 79 may be regarded as having reached years of discretion.

On the occasion of his birthday the other day, the learned and venerable judge had only this to say: that he had nothing to say.

Justice Hughes is wise in years and in experience, in learning and in life. He proved it on his birthday.

The glad tidings of Easter echoed through all of Warren's churches yesterday. By song and sermon the joyous tidings of the Resurrection was told again. It was a matter of solemn regret that at a time when the world acclaims the Risen Christ so many nations should be plunged into war.

That was a swell party the Legionnaires, with the co-operation of local business men, sponsored for kiddies of the community in Crescent park Saturday afternoon.

A local motorist has discovered that autos are almost as thick during rush hours as the heads of some of the drivers.

According to all reports trout streams in the county are in for a "severe whipping" tomorrow.

If we ever can persuade all nations to disarm, they'll owe us another debt.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

And the Lord's anger was kindled against Israel, and he made them wander in the wilderness 40 years, until all the generation that had done evil in the sight of the Lord, was consumed. Numbers 32:13.

YOUR NATION'S CAPITOL

By Peter Edson
The Times-Mirror Washington CorrespondentTALK OF THAT 50,000-PLANE
AIR FORCE NO PIPE DREAM

Washington, April 14—Figures on U. S. production of military airplanes—now 1200 a month—may become restricted information soon, time soon, and so, before the ban goes on, you may be interested in knowing that the aviation program is coming along, and the dizzy figure of 50,000 planes isn't as impossible to conceive as everyone thought it was when first catapulted into the blue a year or so ago.

Building an air force of that size means development along three parallel lines—production of planes, construction of air fields, training of pilots. The pilots and the fields must be ready first, or what good are the planes?

Starting off with 2000 planes and about that many pilots, the army has expanded its program steadily, setting new objectives before the old ones could be reached. First it was to get 3500 planes and 7000 pilots by June, 1941. That goal was just set when demands were made for 25,000 new planes, with 12,000 new pilots. That is the current objective, but even before it can be achieved, the program has been stepped up again.

The fifth supplemental defense bill, just passed by Congress, provided appropriations for an additional 3600 bombers—first step towards the 50,000 plane goal—and a training program looking to the ultimate goal of 30,000 new pilots a year, which would be sufficient to handle a 50,000 plane force in combat, allowing for reserves and replacements.

So stupendous has been this expansion job that army air corps has recently established a new statistical division to keep track of its projects. Almost construction and improvement, for instance, is a major problem. Fifty new military airports have been put into service this year, bringing to about 200 the number of air corps depots, bases and stations. This number, however, won't even begin to handle the 25,000 planes already contracted for and WPA which has been making relief projects out of much of this airport expansion, has had 330 additional sites certified to it by the army for defense development.

Even this won't be enough, though the air corps planning division can't tell where it wants these additional fields, as land must be acquired quietly, to keep prices down.

School expansion must be planned for, too. On March 22 the first class of 2000 cadets began 20 weeks' training under the program aimed to turn out 1000 pilots a month.

These men spend five weeks in replacement centers, the first week being for examination, inoculation and military ground training. Then for six weeks they will receive elementary flight training at a civilian school, and finally get 10 weeks each at army basic and advanced schools, graduating in October as second lieutenants in the air corps reserve and being assigned to duty.

The men who "wash out" in this grind and don't make the grade as pilots are assigned to duty as navigators, bombardiers, engineers and armament officers. So rigid are requirements for this training, only five out of eight students become pilots. To obtain 30,000 pilots a year, 48,000 men must be given the course.

War-Born Yugoslavia
Has History of Strife

WAR is no new experience for Yugoslavia. Created in the peace treaties of the World War I, with Poland and Czechoslovakia, the infant nation knew a decade of internal turmoil before attaining peace. The Serbs, dominant nationality in the country's 16,000,000 people, have a national history filled with wars, struggles of rival rulers, assassinations even before the World War.

Union of Serbs, Slovenes and Croats into a single nation was not easily achieved. The Radic brothers, pictured on the stamp above, were active peasant leaders in the internal strife that continued for 10 years after the formation of the new state. Both Radics were assassinated.

Serbia played an important role in World War I. The assassination of the Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife at Sarajevo precipitated the war. Serbia was conquered by Bulgarian and Austro-German armies in October, 1915, her government exiled to Corfu. The Serbian army retreat across Albania was one of the great tragedies of the war. In 1918 the reorganized Serbs smashed the Central Powers' line at Salonika, reoccupied Belgrade.

Making its final appearance of the season, the Penn-York Symphony Orchestra last night played to a large and appreciative audience in the Woman's Club auditorium.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—In time of peace, the Coast Guard is a part of the Treasury Department. Secretary Morgenthau is, at present, its boss man. Its commanding officer (now Rear Admiral Russell R. Waesche) is appointed by the President.

In time of war, the Coast Guard goes over lock, stock and barrel to the Navy.

It happened the last time on April 6, 1917. A code dispatch went out that morning by wireless and telegraph to every one of the Coast Guard boats and stations. In the length of time that it took to be received the Navy was augmented by 223 commissioned officers, 4,500 warrant officers and enlisted men and 47 vessels.

If we should get into war tomorrow, the Navy would get a much larger personnel, not to mention 10 times as many cutters, thousands of small craft and about 60 airplanes.

What the Coast Guard would do as a part of the Navy in any future war would be pure speculation, but what it has done in the past is the kind of history over which none of the boys have to hang their heads.

Got Busy Early

THE Coast Guard was only seven years old when we ran into troubles with France in 1793, but in the next two years, serving with the newly-organized Navy, the Coast Guard accounted for 18 of the 22 prizes captured by American naval forces. The cutter Pickering, all by herself, captured 10, one of them a ship of 44 guns and 200 men—about three times her own size.

The Coast Guard was in the thick of it again in the War of 1812 and in succeeding years contributed as much as anything else to chasing the pirates out of the Caribbean and Spanish Main. It fought with the Union in the Civil War and was with Admiral Sampson at Havana and Admiral Dewey at Manila in the war with Spain.

Six Coast Guard cutters operated from Gibraltar during the World War, conveying both in the Mediterranean and Atlantic. Others operated in the Atlantic from the Azores to Newfoundland, doing both convoy and reconnaissance work.

UNDER the national defense program, funds (although minute compared to naval outlays) have been approved to give the Coast Guard additional personnel, heavier guns and armor-plate, and anti-aircraft guns. Also in the last two years, the Coast Guard has launched a backlog program. It is the voluntary, non-military Coast Guard Reserve, with about 3,000 persons and more than 1,000 craft. In time of war as well as peace it could help much in life-saving at sea and in harbor and coastal patrol duties.

I know that these meager national defense funds have put a new gleam in the weather eye of those men who do their steering from behind desks in the low, severely plain Coast Guard Headquarters over on the banks of the Potomac.

For a century and a half they have been doing dirty work for nearly every government department. They've pulled aching Eskimo teeth for Interior; measured seals in Bering sea for Commerce. They have chased rum runners and icebergs and cleaned up the shipping lanes after Neptune's rumpuses. They have done balloons for the Weather Bureau and taught CCC boys how to be good sailors. They have fought beside the Navy.

A thousand times a year, no doubt, they have heard some government official say, "Let the Coast Guard do it," and if there is any case on record, when they answered, "With what?" I couldn't find it.

WHEN HUMAN BEINGS ARE JUNK

There is always apt to be a trace of tragedy in an auction room. Things are being sold for what they will bring, things that somebody prized once, and worked and planned to possess, and which no one else will ever, perhaps, prize so much.

Most tragic of auctions, however, was held the other day at Staten Island, New York. The United States sold a warehouse full of pitiful household objects sent here by people who had hoped to get out of Europe, who never made it.

Some of the boxes had been piling up for two years or more, storage charges unpaid, taking up room that had to be found for new boxes. Egg beaters and rolling pins, pieces of silver, things valuable and worthless, useful and pitifully useless. But the people who sent them were unable to follow. So their belongings became junk, sold for storage charges and to make space.

That is sad enough. But what of the human hearts that beat so high with hope when those boxes and packages were sent to America? They are junk too, human junk, rotting and wasting away for lack of means to come to the land where they might have a chance of freedom and hope.

Thousands are standing on the piers at Libson, waiting for the ship that does not come. Other thousands are in France and Germany and Austria, in every land where the Nazi boots have trod, condemned as human junk to rot in ghettos or concentration camps, or simply to wait without help or hope.

As they have fled from country to country in an effort to keep ahead of the Nazi legions, time after time those legions have caught up with them, subjecting certain ones to summary punishment, others merely to abandonment in that vast human junk yard which Adolf Hitler has made of half of Europe.

But ships to Libson, last "escape-hatch" of Europe, are few and far between. Even those who have run the whole gauntlet, and arrived at Libson with all proper credentials, have no assurance of flight to the New World. And any day the hob-nailed boots may come tramping into Portugal.

Surely it must be possible to do something to reclaim this human junk. They are people, men and women and children who live and breathe and feel and think (God help them) and who perhaps have not ceased entirely to hope.

A way was found to put to use the goods they sent before them. Can not the New World find a way to use their lives as well?

YEARS OF DISCRETION

If speech be silver and silence golden—and an old saying avers it is so—then Justice Hughes at 79 may be regarded as having reached years of discretion.

On the occasion of his birthday the other day, the learned and venerable judge had only this to say: that he had nothing to say.

Justice Hughes is wise in years and in experience, in learning and in life. He proved it on his birthday.

The glad tidings of Easter echoed through all of Warren's churches yesterday. By song and sermon the joyous tidings of the Resurrection was told again. It was a matter of solemn regret that at a time when the world acclaims the Risen Christ so many nations should be plunged into war.

That was a swell party the Legionnaires, with the co-operation of local business men, sponsored for kiddies of the community in Crescent park Saturday afternoon.

A local motorist has discovered that autos are almost as thick during rush hours as the heads of some of the drivers.

According to all reports trout streams in the county are in for a "severe whipping" tomorrow.

If we ever can persuade all nations to disarm, they'll owe us another debt.

TALK OF THAT 50,000-PLANE AIR FORCE NO PIPE DREAM

Washington, April 14—Figures on U. S. production of military airplanes—now 1200 a month—may become restricted information soon; time soon, and so, before the ban goes on, you may be interested in knowing that the aviation program is coming along, and the dizzy figure of 50,000 planes isn't as impossible to conceive as everyone thought it was when first catapulted into the blue a year or so ago.

Building an air force of that size means development along three parallel lines—production of planes, construction of air fields, training of pilots. The pilots and the fields must be ready first, or what good are the planes?

Starting off with 2000 planes and about that many pilots, the army has expanded its program steadily, setting new objectives before the old ones could be reached. First it was to get 3500 planes and 7000 pilots by June, 1941. That goal was just set when demands were made for 25,000 new planes with 12,000 new pilots. That is the current objective, but even before it can be achieved, the program has been stepped up again.

The fifth supplemental defense bill, just passed by Congress, carried appropriations for an additional 3600 bombers—first step towards the 50,000 plane goal—and a training program looking to the ultimate goal of 30,000 new pilots a year which would be sufficient to handle a 50,000 plane force in combat, allowing for reserves and replacements.

So stupendous has been this expansion job that army air corps has recently established a new statistical division to keep track of its projects.

Airport construction and improvement, for instance, is a major problem. Fifty new military airports have been put into service this year, bringing to about 200 the number of air corps depots, bases and stations. This number, however, won't even begin to handle the 25,000 planes already contracted for and WPA which has been making relief projects out of much of this airport expansion, has had 350 additional sites certified to it by the armed forces for defense development.

Even this won't be enough, though the air corps planning division can't tell where it wants these additional fields, as land must be acquired quietly, to keep prices down.

School expansion must be planned for, too. On March 22 the first class of 2000 cadets began 30 weeks' training under the program aimed to turn out 1000 pilots a month.

These men spend five weeks in replacement centers, the first week being for examination, inoculation and military ground training. Then for six weeks they will receive elementary flight training at a civilian school, and finally get 10 weeks each at army basic and advanced schools, graduating in October as second lieutenants in the air corps reserve and being assigned to duty.

The men who "wash out" in this grind and don't make the grade as pilots are assigned to duty as navigators, bombardiers, engineers and armament officers. So rigid are requirements for this training, only five out of eight students become pilots. To obtain 30,000 pilots a year, 45,000 men must be given the course.

War-Horn Yugoslavia Has History of Strife

WAR is no new experience for Yugoslavia. Created in the peace treaties of the World War I, with Poland and Czechoslovakia, the infant nation knew a decade of internal turmoil before attaining peace. The Serbs, dominant nationality in the country's 16,000,000 people, have a national history filled with wars, struggles of royal rulers, assassinations even before the World War.

Union of Serbs, Slovenes and Croats into a single nation was not easily achieved. The Radic brothers, pictured on the stamp above, were active peasant leaders in the internal strife that continued for 10 years after the formation of the new state. Both Radics were assassinated.

Serbia played an important role in World War I. The assassination of the Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife at Sarajevo precipitated the war. Serbia was conquered by Bulgarian and Austro-German armies in October, 1915, her government exiled to Corfu. The Serbian army retreat across Albania was one of the great tragedies of the war. In 1918 the reorganized Serbs smashed the Central Powers' line at Salonika, reoccupied Belgrade.

Washington And New York Start 1941 Hostilities Today

Rival Managers See Reds And Yanks As The Teams To Beat

New York, April 14.—(P)—The managers are confident—but as easy as ever—today as baseball bowed in with the first skirmish of the 1941 major league season.

The opening game matched the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators in the nation's capital with President Roosevelt throwing out the first ball.

The rest of the clubs begin firing tomorrow. And while they wait, the pilots looked into the crystal ball and reached the unanimous conclusion that all clubs are stronger than last year, and the races in both the National and American Leagues will be wide open.

Comme Mack, starting with his 41st year at the helm of the Athletics and his 48th as a manager, keyed the comments collected by the Associated Press with an observation that the war tension increased employment and freer circulation of money would be reflected to the advantage of all baseball leagues.

"People are keyed up more than they realize," said the 78-year-old Mack, "and I expect they will be wanting to go to the ball games and relax."

Mack gained considerable reputation as a prophet last spring by forecasting the downfall of the Yankees and correctly spotting them in third place.

But this year he is inclined to think the New York Bombers will hit the target in the American League.

"There are five good teams this trip and I would have a lot of nerve to say anyone of the other four won't be a startling surprise. Then the other three clubs, my Athletics, the Washingtons and St. Louis are just good enough to cause a lot of trouble all the way through."

"I like my team and if I had two sure fire pitchers we would do more than cause trouble. We'd be putting up a good fight for first prize. I haven't got 'em, it seems and right now I don't know what I am going to do about it."

Del Baker, manager of Detroit's surprise pennant winners of last year, forecast a five-team race. "I think it will be a wide-open race between Detroit, New York, Cleveland, Boston and Chicago. We appear stronger than last year, but it will all depend on whether Greenberg, York, Gehring and Newsom can come up with big years. We were good enough to win last season and we've done less experimenting than any other club. So why shouldn't I like our chances to repeat?"

Joe McCarthy of the Yankees hedged with the defense that "I haven't seen a rival American League club this year, so how can I tell how we are going to finish against the field." Then he added, "I will say I'm not worrying about my team."

Roger Peckinpaugh, new chief of the Cleveland Indians, likes his club's outlook. "It's a good club and we've got a good chance. We're starting off with the idea of a pennant. But, of course, there are seven other clubs and I've been in baseball too long to say where any one team will finish. However, we ought to be up there."

The virtually unanimous opinion of the National League pilots was the Cincinnati's world champions hold the key to the finish.

Manager Bill McKechnie was the first to admit it, saying: "The Reds are the team to beat. We're on top and they've got to knock us off if they can. The fact that the experts picked up has no bearing on it. We're stronger in reserves than we were at the start of last season. Gleason is looking good, both at the plate and in the field. As for the other clubs, I pick 'em just as they finished last year."

Leo Durocher, whose Brooklyn Dodgers are one of the chief threats of the Reds, asserted: "Cincinnati is the team to beat. After all, they're the champs. I always have been my policy not to predict where my team would finish. However, I will say that in my opinion we are stronger than last year and better conditioned. Higbe has helped our pitching staff and Joe Medwick is going to be one of the top hitters in the league."

PLAY BALL!

St. Paul, April 14.—(P)—While the 3,066 total of the leading Vogel Bros. Forest Park, Ill., is 18 pins higher than the mark which won the team title for the Chicago Monarchs last year at Detroit, there are few American Bowling Congress followers who expect the total to stand up when finals are written to the world tenpin championships May 5.

Only two totals above the 3,000 mark were scored last year at Detroit in comparison with five here. Only about 50 per cent of the nation's better teams have performed already in the current meet and many are predicting that 3,100 will be shot before the windup.

It took 3,161 to annex the team title in 1938; 3,234 (the all-time high) in 1935 and 3,118 in 1937.

Cleveland bowlers set the Eastern pace when Bill Kenet and Joe Bodis scored last year at Detroit in the doubles with a 1,313 total. Kenet, who has competed in five previous meets, hung up 687 while Bodis, who has seen service in 23 consecutive campaigns, scored 626.

The most tempting golf course, for this season of the year, that your agent has ever seen is the Conewango Valley Club layout, which is nearly in mid-season appearance, although the greens committee has mapped out a conditioning plan for the next couple of weeks which is expected to put the local links in its best shape ever. This is the time of year when, against their better judgment, golfers start right out to tour the distance, although golf pros agree that the chief reason for those 100-plus scores is that Mr. Average Player hops right out in the spring and starts batting the ball without rehearsing the fundamentals of stance, grip, pivot and swing. They fall into old errors and acquire new ones. Craig Wood, who has just nailed a victory in the annual Augusta Masters, says that any golfer can chop strokes off his summer scores if he will start out right. In seven illustrated stories, which begin in the Times-Mirror today, through the co-operation of the Associated Press, Wood tells the correct way, and it might be a good idea to spend an afternoon on the practice tee swinging in the prescribed arc. You'll find it will keep your scores down this season. Already many Conewango Valley golfers have visited the practice tee, and last weekend saw the course dotted with players.

GOLF SWING TUNE-UP

BY GRAIG WOOD

Augusta Masters' Golf Champion 1. STANCE: The success of every shot depends on the way in which the player prepares for it before hand. A relaxed and "easy" stance is the first requisite of a good swing. Care should be taken to see that the entire body is in a natural, comfortable position.

The ball should be placed on a line opposite the left heel for the drive. Both feet should be pointed slightly out and the hands should be held close to the body.

Relax the hips and legs and distribute your weight evenly.

FARM DIRECTOR OF BUC SYSTEM DIES SUDDENLY

Pittsburgh, April 14.—(P)—Joe Schultz, Sr., 46, former big league player and director of the Pittsburgh Pirates' baseball farm system for the past two years, died suddenly in a Columbia, S. C., hospital yesterday.

Schultz was taken ill a few days ago while in the southern city on business concerning the Pirate farm club at Moultrie, S. C. At his bedside were his wife, who had flown to Columbia from their St. Louis home, and a son, Joe Schultz, Jr., rookie Pirate catcher.

A native of Pittsburgh, Schultz learned his first baseball on the sandlots, breaking into the professional game in 1911. Soon in the major leagues, he played with every National League team except the New York Giants and also with Boston of the American League.

He was always a dangerous hitter and his versatility was illustrated by the fact he had played every infield and outfield position.

During his career, he was with minor league outfits in Altoona, Pa., Montreal, Akron, O., Rochester, N. Y., Los Angeles, Toronto, Kansas City, Houston and Minneapolis.

He was connected with the St. Louis Cardinals' farm system before transferring to Pittsburgh. Pirate sources indicated his successor would be Harold (Pie) Traynor, former manager of the club and present assistant farm director.

Schultz also leaves three other children. Pauline, Josephine and John, all of St. Louis. Burial will be in St. Louis.

Washington And New York Start 1941 Hostilities Today

Rival Managers See Reds And Yanks As The Teams To Beat

New York, April 14.—(P)—The managers are confident—but as wary as ever—today as baseball bowed in with the first skirmish of the 1941 major league season.

The opening game matched the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators in the nation's capital with President Roosevelt throwing out the first ball.

The rest of the clubs begin firing tomorrow. And while they wait, the pilots looked into the crystal ball and reached the unanimous conclusion that all clubs are stronger than last year, and the races in both the National and American Leagues will be wide open.

Connie Mack, starting with his 41st year at the helm of the Athletics and his 48th as a manager, keyed the comments collected by the Associated Press with an observation that the war tension increased employment and freer circulation of money would be reflected to the advantage of all baseball leagues.

"People are keyed up more than they realize," said the 78-year-old Mack, "and I expect they will be wanting to go to the ball games and relax."

Mack gained considerable reputation as a prophet last spring by forecasting the downfall of the Yankees and correctly spotting them in third place.

But this year he is inclined to think the New York Bombers will hit the target in the American League.

Leo Durocher, whose Brooklyn Dodgers are one of the chief threats of the Reds, asserted: "Cincinnati is the team to beat. After all, they're the champs. It always has been my policy not to predict where my team would finish. However, I will say that in my opinion we are stronger than last year and better conditioned. Higbe has helped our pitching staff and Joe Medwick is going to be one of the top hitters in the league."

ALLEY OOP Tough Times Ahead By V. T. HAMLIN

PLAY BALL!

CLEVELAND DOUBLES TEAM TAKES SECOND

St. Paul, April 14.—(P)—While the 3,065 total of the leading Vogel Bros. Forest Park, Ill., is 18 pins higher than the mark which won the team title for the Chicago Monarchs last year at Detroit, there are few American Bowling Congress followers who expect the total to stand up when finals is written to the world temple championships May 6.

Only two totals above the 3,000 mark were scored last year at Detroit in comparison with five here. Only about 50 per cent of the nation's better teams have performed already in the current meet and many are predicting that 3,100 will be shot before the windup.

It took 3,161 to annex the team title in 1939, 3,234 (the all-time high) in 1938 and 3,118 in 1937. Cleveland bowlers set the Eastern pace when Bill Kenet and Joe Bodis soared into second berth in the doubles with a 1,313 total. Kenet, who has competed in five previous meets, hung up 687 while Bodis, who has been service in 23 consecutive campaigns, scored 626.

The probable abandonment of the Sunset League for another season, or until a suitable playing field is available, has been a great disappointment to fans and players alike. At this writing, Saturday afternoon games at the State Hospital and weekend engagements at Irvine will be the whole bill of fare, which will provide good ball but will make it a little tough on the boys who ride shank's mare. One of the Forge players, who had planned to play with a Sunset League club this year, commented yesterday that most of the horsehide tossers were particularly sorry to see the loop given up because of the effect it will have given a chance to develop, and to quote the Forge, "when a kid misses an opportunity to participate in baseball, he's missed a part of life which nothing else can replace. I wouldn't take a lot more money than I ever received for the experience and pleasure I got in sandlot ball." Well, it's tough going, boys, but there'll come a day!

Incidentally, wonder what the future of scholastic baseball will be. A couple of years ago, Jake Leidig trotted out some uniforms and rounded up a darned nice combine after several seasons when the crack of a schoolboy bat was not heard. The team won 14 out of 17 and annexed the county title, and even last year, with fewer luminaries on the team, the Dragons won nine and lost five. Many of the nearby schools have given up baseball entirely, however, and Coach Leidig may have quite a time scheduling games. Falconer, Hickory and Tidouite can be relied upon, and if he has enough boys to make up a nine, "Silent Joe" Massa will put his Kinzua Warriors on the field. What may eventually occur locally is the discontinuance of inter-scholastic baseball and the renewal of intra-mural contests. It's pretty hard to keep baseball interest alive among the kids when they have no town heroes to give them the inspiration.

GOLF SWING TUNE-UP

BY GRAIG WOOD

Augusta Masters' Golf Champion 1. STANCE: The success of every shot depends on the way in which the player prepares for it before-hand. A relaxed and "easy" stance is the first requisite of a good swing. Care should be taken to see that the entire body is in a natural, comfortable position.

The ball should be placed on a line opposite the left heel for the drive. Both feet should be pointed slightly out and the hands should be held close to the body.

Relax the hips and legs and distribute your weight evenly.

Modernity Is Keynote Of Certified Performance Gas Ranges Shown

KNIGHTS MAKE PLANS TO MEET AT PITTSBURGH

The 58th annual convocation of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Pennsylvania, will be held in Pittsburgh May 25, 26, 27 and 28, and will be attended by approximately 8,000 members with their ladies.

It will open Sunday, May 25, with an informal reception in the afternoon at William Penn Hotel for all its knights and their ladies. In the evening divine services will be held at the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue. This will be preceded by a short street parade.

On Monday, May 26, in the morning the knights and their ladies will visit the Heinz plant on the North Side and take lunch at the guests of that industrial institution. In the afternoon they will be entertained with a special program at the Buhl Planetarium.

The evening will be given over to receptions by the various local and visiting commanderies at William Penn Hotel.

On Tuesday morning the annual street parade will take place. With their white-plumed chapeaux, black uniforms, gold and silver belts and swords, the Knights Templar make one of the most brilliant parades and form, with their intricate drilling maneuvers, a colorful spectacle.

The business sessions will begin on Tuesday afternoon at the William Penn Hotel, with the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania assembling for its annual proceedings. During the official opening session, the Baldrick Knights and their ladies will visit the Oakland district, Pittsburgh's civic center, where calls will be made at the Masonic Temple, Mellon Institute, Carnegie Institute of Technology and the University of Pittsburgh campus. In the evening there will be drills by several drill corps, followed by the grand commander's (Turn to Page Seven)

Time was, when you bought a range, you found in a short while that better models appeared on the market with the new year. The Certified Performance Gas Range has changed that.

The Certified Performance specifications have been so carefully planned that the C-P range will still be a modern cooking appliance in years to come because it was designed, engineered, and laboratory tested with the future in mind.

For the first time in the history of modern ranges, the super-service gas range embodies most of the scientific features, advantages and improvements into one range.

Ordinarily when a new cooking appliance is introduced, one or two models at the very most are available. The C-P Range is not the product of a single manufacturer, but rather is the ideal range of many manufacturers who offer in total some 100 models.

That means endless variation in types and sizes—four burner, six and even eight burner models—down to the small apartment size, a compact cooking unit. As always in the case of gas ranges, the C-P Range may be selected to suit the individual homemaker and the kitchen in which it will be installed.

Despite variety in model types—each range carries the new seal of service—the two letters C-P in a circle—a guarantee to the purchaser that it was produced according to more than twenty minimum requirements in addition to those which win the familiar seal of approval of the testing laboratories, American Gas Association.

Few persons purchasing a gas range know that the 359 tests which win the laboratory seal impose standards far higher than those required by the United States Bureau of Standards. When the 22 rigid requirements are incorporated in the creation of the C-P gas range, the result is a cooking appliance recognized the world over as the last word in superiority.

both army and navy will have to lower present standards which require two years of college or its equivalent and the passing of a stiff general examination before an applicant can be considered for air corps training, is not now given serious consideration.

As long as the 4000 men a month can be found with these mental qualifications, the bars will not be let down and so far there has been no difficulty in finding volunteers to meet these requirements.

To maintain the 300,000 plane-30,000 pilot force, however, an enlisted personnel must be recruited at the rate of almost 1000 a month. As long as the one-year selective service law is in effect, none of these men will be conscripts for the simple reason that 22 weeks of schooling are required to turn out an aviation technician.

All these men, therefore, are three-year volunteers and they are the men who become the radio operators, photographers, supply men, bomb sight technicians, parachute riggers, weather men and mechanics.

It takes a little of everything to make an air corps, including money. What the whole air effort is costing is buried in the mazes of governmental bookkeeping that make the new air corps statistical section will get to some time soon but not today.

Fashions In Cookies Change With Years But Proper Methods of Baking Are Never Varied

Fashions in cookies change with the years. While plain and fruit types are considered best for children, adults prefer the sweeter cookies, the variety with topping being popular at present since it is attractive for desserts and afternoon tea.

The baking of cookies never varies, for it demands a good oven as always. Cookies are so sensitive to heat and indicate so plainly the baking characteristics of an oven that they are used for the practical baking tests to which engineers subject all modern gas ranges before they can win the laboratory seal of approval of the gas industry.

For perfect cookies, the desired temperature must be accurate and be maintained during the baking period; and the heat must be evenly circulated throughout every square inch of the oven compartment. Otherwise cookies over-bake in some parts of the oven, under-bake in others, or lose their shape if the heat fluctuates. To prevent any such failures, the burner and the design of the oven of a modern Gas Range have been carefully studied and tested.

High Hat Cookies

2 egg whites.
1 1/3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, packed in cup.
1/2 teaspoon almond extract.
1/4 cup shelled almonds ground fine.

1/3 cup sifted flour.
Baking temperature: 375 degrees F.

Beat the egg whites until frothy. Beat the egg yolks gradually, beating until stiff. Add sugar gradually. Reserve one-third of the mixture. Fold almonds and flour into the two-third portion. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto an oiled baking sheet. Flatten with a moist spatula and top with a teaspoon of the egg-white reserve. Bake for ten minutes.

Jelly Cookies

1/3 cup butter.
1/2 cup brown or white sugar.
1 egg, beaten.
1/4 teaspoon salt.
2 cups pastry flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
1 teaspoon flavoring.
Baking temperature: 375 degrees F.

Cream butter, add sugar slowly and cream well. Add beaten egg. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk and flavoring to the sugar-fat mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto an oiled baking sheet; make a depression with the back of a spoon in the top of each cookie and fill the cavity with a tart jelly or jam. Bake 10 to 15 minutes.

DECREASE SEEN IN RELIEF LOAD OF THIS COUNTY

Warren county's direct relief rolls showed a decrease of six cases during the week ending April 5, bringing the total number of cases down to 207, representing 558 persons, according to the department of public assistance.

The decrease was the result of 11 cases being opened and 17 closed during the week. Rises in both WPA and private employment helped in cutting down the relief rolls.

Cost of direct relief in the county for the week was $972.36. In the state a new low for eight years of state-wide assistance administration was reported. The state-wide total was 132,323 cases containing 325,317 persons. Cost of relief in the state was $779,327.53, a decrease of $10,257 from the preceding week.

Summary of War Relief Work of Red Cross Chapter Announced

The Warren County Chapter, American Red Cross, has just received the following summary of its war relief work:

Shipments of relief materials are going to Great Britain on an average of 25 boats each month and substantial cash grants to the Women's Voluntary Services have been approved to meet emergency needs in Great Britain not met through the shipment of supplies. Although the problem of shipping space to Great Britain is increasingly acute, all supplies made available by the American Red Cross have moved without serious delay. The buildings and equipment of the Red Cross Harvard Hospital now are going forward, and the director and several members of the staff have arrived in England.

Commitments and expenditures for British war relief amount to $6,250,655, in addition to which chapter-produced supplies valued at $4,600,644 have been shipped to Great Britain.

The freighter Cold Harbor, chartered by the Red Cross, and with the Red Cross name and symbol and U. S. flags painted on her sides, docked first in Cadiz, Spain, where tons of flour and milk were unloaded. The night of her unloading, aged inmates of a charitable home had their first meal from those supplies from America. Distribution continued in Cadiz, Seville and Barcelona under the direction of Red Cross representatives.

The Cold Harbor then docked at Marseilles amidst a gay and festive occasion in which most of the school children of the city turned out to greet the ship. United States and French flags were waved and the children and city of friends joined in shouting "Vive l'Amérique!"

Expenditures and commitments for Greek War Relief amount to $1,177,959 in funds and chapter-produced supplies to the value of $485,126 which have been shipped to Greece.

Expenditures and commitments to France, largely milk, children's clothing and vitamin concentrates for distribution to children only, total $3,154,454, as well as chapter-produced supplies in the amount of $363,225. Expenditures for Spain total $1,058,151; for China $1,431,935 and for Finland, $2,305,050.

Thus, total relief made available by and through the American Red Cross up to March 1 was $22,981,942. Of this $30,000,000 U. S. appropriation to foreign war relief, President Roosevelt has approved allocation to the Red Cross of $22,000,000. Of this allocation, expenditures and commitments of $8,318,539 have been made. The Red Cross has supplied $14,663,611, of which over $6,000,000 is chapter-produced supplies.

Relief to prisoners of war is traditionally a Red Cross service. After long negotiations through the International Red Cross and Geneva, standard food parcels and articles of clothing and comfort are going to prisoners of war. Ten thousand such parcels are now on their way to Geneva for needy prisoners in the British, French, Belgian and Polish nationality. Provision has been made whereby persons in the U. S. may order parcels delivered to identified prisoners. A further service is the American Red Cross Inquiry and Information Service, through which inquiries about persons in war-affected countries are handled. More than 70,000 inquiries have been received, and more than 37,000 reports have been made on these requests. This service also carries a large volume of correspondence regarding the sending of money or packages to persons abroad.

For many months past the production committee for war relief has been working daily at the local Red Cross headquarters to provide Warren county's share in this great humanitarian endeavor. Since the need is becoming greater and greater, more volunteer workers will be needed to carry on the program.

Fashions In Cookies Change With Years But Proper Methods of Baking Are Never Varied

Fashions in cookies change with the years. While plain and fruit types are considered best for children, adults prefer the sweeter cookies, the variety with topping being popular at present since it is attractive for desserts and afternoon tea.

The baking of cookies never varies, for it demands a good oven as always. Cookies are so sensitive to heat and indicate so plainly the baking characteristics of an oven that they are used for the practical baking tests to which engineers subject all modern gas ranges before they can win the laboratory seal of approval of the gas industry.

For perfect cookies, the desired temperature must be accurate and be maintained during the baking period; and the heat must be evenly circulated throughout every square inch of the oven compartment. Otherwise cookies over-bake in some parts of the oven, under-bake in others, or lose their shape if the heat fluctuates. To prevent any such failures, the burner and the design of the oven of a modern Gas Range have been carefully studied and tested.

High Hat Cookies

2 egg whites.
1 1/3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, packed in cup.
1/2 teaspoon almond extract.
3/4 cup shelled almonds ground fine.

1/3 cup sifted flour.
Baking temperature: 375 degrees F.

Beat the egg whites until frothy, add sugar gradually, beating until stiff. Add flavoring. Reserve one-third of the mixture. Fold almonds and flour into the two-third portion. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto an oiled baking sheet, flatten with a moist spatula and top with a teaspoon of the egg-white reserve. Bake for ten minutes.

Jelly Cookies

1/3 cup butter.
3/4 cup brown or white sugar.
1/3 cup milk.
1 egg, beaten.
1/4 teaspoon salt.
2 cups pastry flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
1 teaspoon flavoring.
Baking temperature: 375 degrees F.

Cream butter, add sugar slowly and cream well. Add beaten egg. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk and flavoring to the sugar-fat mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto an oiled baking sheet, make a depression with the back of a spoon in the top of each cookie and fill the cavity with a tart jelly or jam. Bake 10 to 15 minutes.

HEART'S HAVEN

Chapter 29
Ham's Surprise
"YOU'D already decided not to buy the place," Mrs. Jackson mimicked. "Then why didn't you open your mouth and say so? The minute you said that I would've seen to it that you got off this island and got off quick. But you went around pretending you liked the place. But I should have known you society women are a two-faced lot. You don't care what trouble you make for other people!"

With her head high, Mrs. Jackson stalked from the room and her husband slunk after her like a shadow. They could hear the sharp bang of the kitchen door as the couple retired to their own quarters.

"Well, of all things!" Mrs. Marbury exclaimed, helplessly.

Gina laughed. "Never mind, Aunt Helen. Mrs. Jackson's probably a Communist. But she went on glancing at Ham. "I'm rather sorry you decided against the house. I think it's a darling old place."

"You do?" Ham's voice was surprised, and he looked at Eve as if for confirmation.

"Of course she likes it," Eve said, ignoring Julie's frank disapproval of the discussion. "It could be made into a dream of a house—a dream island."

She did not mean to look toward Brett as she spoke, but Neil, clearing his throat sharply, made her realize that her expression had been revealing. She blushed and glanced away, and Neil came to her rescue with what seemed an idle question.

"This estate that Mrs. Jackson talks about so intimately," he said to the lawyer, "what's the name of it?"

"The Holmes Estates," Howe replied at once. "They've been in litigation for some time now, but they'll be settled this session, I believe."

Ham roused from his rapt contemplation of Gina's delicate coloring. "What—what did you say?" he stammered, still having difficulty with his lip.

"The Holmes Estates," the lawyer repeated.

"But—but that's me!" Ham exclaimed. "I mean—well, Mother's brother had a lot of property under that name, and it's still in the process of what-cha-may-call-it getting settled. If there's anything left after taxes and such, it comes to me."

There was a babble of excited comment lost on Ham, since Gina had thrown her arms tightly around his neck.

"Gina!" Mrs. Marbury finally made her voice heard. "What in the world has come over you?"

"It's all right, Aunt Helen," Gina answered, her soft cheek still burrowing in Ham's shoulder. "We're engaged."

Eve ran over and pulled Gina to her feet. She looked at her closely for a second, and then, satisfied with the contentment in Gina's eyes, folded the girl in her arms. "Gina—you're sure?" she had to question.

Gina pulled away and laughed up at her. "I don't know a lot of nonsense, Eve—but love is something you can't speculate about, or add up before you know the numbers. It—it just happens, that's all!"

Ham, looking ridiculously happy, was being pounded on the back by Neil and playfully tabbed in the ribs by Brett.

"Of course you know," Neil cautioned him, "that she's just marrying you for your filthy lucre. This house and all—that's what won her, my boy."

"I don't care," said Ham, disengaging himself and getting closer to Gina. "I just think I'm a darn lucky guy to have the house, if that's what she wants, as long as she takes me with it."

"Do you mean, darling—do you really mean you'll live here? But you don't like it."

Ham's voice was husky. "I live anywhere—with you," he whispered.

It was the lawyer who managed to break the tension. He patted Mrs. Marbury's shoulder, as she sat quietly sniffing into her handkerchief, and called to Jim Drossard:

"This is an occasion. And since it is our last night here, I propose we get a bottle of wine and have our celebration now. What do you say, Mrs. Marbury?"

"Why—why, of course," Mrs. Marbury tried to pull herself together. "Ask Mrs. Jackson to get it—oh, Gina, what will your uncle say?"

Gina and Ham both went over and talked in a low tone to reassure her. Eve, suddenly realizing that she was very tired, resolved to go upstairs as soon as the footloose could be heard going out toward the kitchen, and she listened for the sound of their voices. Neil's voice at her elbow surprised her.

"I want a house," he said. "Eve, feeling foggy from lack of sleep, blurted at him. "What did you say?"

"I said I want a house," Neil repeated. "Gina just like this. A house that you'd like—like you like this one. You'd want just a little while—and I'll see if I can find another island and a deserted mansion!"

Eve's eyes stared, but she tried to keep her voice steady.

"Dear Nell! You know I'd just as soon set up housekeeping on a park bench as I loved you. Please—please don't make it so hard for me. I don't want to spoil Gina's evening."

She broke off as they all heard the sound of someone running. Jim Drossard dashed in a second later breathless.

"The Jacksons!" he panted—"both of them. They're gone. Look—look what I found on the kitchen table."

He held out a grimy piece of paper to the lawyer, who took it with fastidious distaste, and adjusted his glasses carefully. Mrs. Marbury, affronted, began:

"Gone! But that's ridiculous. They should both be held accountable for what we've had to go through!"

"That's evidently what they thought," the lawyer interposed. "This note is addressed to you. Mr. Rodman, but you won't have any objection if I read it aloud?"

"Not at all. Go ahead," Brett agreed.

"Dear Mr. Rodman," the lawyer began. "This is to let you know that Mr. Jackson and me are leaving. We were packed some days ago, but thought if Mrs. M. did not take the house we might stay on. But with everybody threatening us, there was no use staying, and so we're going."

"She said that before," Brett interrupted, grinning.

"We didn't take nothing that didn't belong to us," the lawyer continued reading. "We even left some things that was ours, like the oil stove down in the boat-house. And you needn't bother to look for us—we got friends where we're going that'll take care of us good. So goodbye, and report what you like to the estate. It don't matter now."

"So they ran out on us," Julie said thoughtfully. Eve suspected that her friend had been half-dozing in the corner, before Jim burst in with the letter.

"Yes, so they did," Brett said cheerily.

"And you knew they were going to do it," Eve accused him. Brett pretended to look shocked, but he avoided a direct answer.

"How could I know? Of course that's what I would have done, if I'd been in their place. But you never know what other people will do."

"There's a postscript," the lawyer interrupted. "And I may say it's an interesting one. If I have your attention for just a minute..." They all stopped talking among themselves and listened again as Howe read slowly:

"Mr. Jackson took back the money from one of the gentlemen took off him. It'll come in handy, and we need it more than the young gentleman. Yours respectfully, Amelia Jackson."

"The 'respectfully' of course makes it all right," said Mrs. Marbury with unaccustomed tartness. "Well, if you don't mind, I think I'll go to bed before anything else happens."

Rescue
"THEY missed the arrival of the plane after all. Everyone slept so soundly that it was only after the pilot had resorted to calling and thumping on the door that Julie finally awakened.

"Wouldn't you know, that after having been stranded here for so long, we'd finally almost miss the plane?" Julie inquired of Eve, as she dressed hastily. "Hurry, dear, we may yet have breakfast in the Ocean Park Hotel."

But the pilot voted against that, and suggested that it would be well for all of them to have at least a cup of coffee before they started. Julie agreed to see what she could do, and managed, with Neil at the toaster, to prepare a fairly good breakfast.

While preparations were going on, Brett signalled Eve and they slipped down to the shore.

"I'm going to wait here—on the island, Ham will have a boat sent out for me," he told her. Eve nodded, her eyes following the curve of his cheek, the easy muscular strength of his shoulders, broad against the brisk ocean breeze. The plane lay close to the pier, seeming even now poised for flight.

When Brett did not say anything further, Eve said hesitantly, "Will Ham and Gina really come here to live, do you think?"

"Oh, yes. Ham asked me to fix up the place. He and Gina plan to be married in about six weeks. By that time I'll have the major repairs done. Then they'll come and work on the furnishing and interior changes." He turned to Eve directly for the first time. "I've always told you that someone would take the house, even if Mrs. Marbury didn't. You see I was right."

Eve nodded again. She had a feeling that Brett was talking against time—to cover up what he really had intended to say last night almost in this very spot. Anything else, even about his work, was for the moment unimportant.

"I suppose we'd better be getting back. Breakfast must be almost ready," Brett added after a minute.

Eve stood without moving as he turned.

"Didn't you mean it—when you kissed me?" she asked, puzzled. Brett looked angry.

"Of course I meant it."

"Then—why don't you say what you started to—last night?"

Gina and Ham both went over and talked in a low tone to reassure her. Eve, suddenly realizing that she was very tired, resolved to go upstairs as soon as the footloose could be heard going out toward the kitchen, and she listened for the sound of their voices. Neil's voice at her elbow surprised her.

"I want a house," he said. "Eve, feeling foggy from lack of sleep, blurted at him. "What did you say?"

"I said I want a house," Neil repeated. "Gina just like this. A house that you'd like—like you like this one. You'd want just a little while—and I'll see if I can find another island and a deserted mansion!"

Eve's eyes stared, but she tried to keep her voice steady.

For him to be married by a priest. "Both of us wish it could be a church service," he said.

Roosevelt, a captain in the Marines at San Diego, spends most of his leave at his film studio in Culver City. He already has produced a feature-length picture and a number of slot-machine musicals.

Miss Schneider, a native of Independence, Wis., attended La Crosse, Wis., State Teachers College and graduated from St. Mary's School of Nursing at Rochester, Minn. When Roosevelt went to the Mayo clinic for an operation in 1938, she was assigned as his special nurse.

Roosevelt has a three-day leave for his honeymoon, which must be "within three hours of San Diego," he said. The couple will live in a San Diego apartment.

bag" bandit gang, were under 15- to 30-year sentences each for armed robbery. McGale, a Bronx bandit, was serving 15 years. All had long police records.

After killing Hartie, they quickly overpowered the only other guard on duty, Matteo De Simone, rushed him down from the third floor ward to a sub-basement, and locked him in.

Cowed patients made no outcry, and it was not until 3:30 a. m. (EST) a half hour after the break occurred that Sing Sing's siren sounded the alarm. This was when the guards failed to make their regular telephone report.

Meanwhile the three desperadoes had unlocked two barred passages with prison keys obtained from an undisclosed source and crawled through a service tunnel to a vaulted room, the foot, they encountered a cruising Ossining patrol car and in the gun battle that followed, Patrolman Fagan, one of two men in the car, and Waters were shot to death.

Unwounded, the two other convicts apparently abandoned a plan to reach a parked car near the Ossining road, and in which they were to escape. They were taken to the Hudson river and commandeered a boat owned by Charles Rohr, Jr. a shad fisherman. They forced him at gunpoint to row them across to the Palisades Interstate Park, thickly wooded at that point.

Following quickly on their trail within eight hours—state, park and local police immediately organized one of the greatest searches in the history of the area.

The police cordoned stretching 26 miles from the western New Jersey approach to the George Washington bridge in Upper Manhattan to Bear Mountain, gradually closed in, stopping and searching all cars.

Four coast guard vessels patrolled the Hudson river, cutting off all possibility of back-tracking across the water. A state police plane cruised low overhead.

After the capture Warden Lewis E. Lawes said "we are going to have a couple of murder trials." Earlier, he telephoned Gov. Herbert H. Lehman at Albany that preliminary inquiry had absolved the slain guard and De Simone, the other infirmirary keeper, of any complicity.

Lawes said an investigation was under way to determine how the fugitives had obtained their guns and—event more of a mystery to prison officials—gained access to the carefully guarded keys.

Rift Continues To Cloud Soft Coal Situation

(From Page One)
The southern bloc, composed of 13 operator groups, bolted the joint Appalachian wage conference last Friday after northern operators agreed to a union demand for a $1 a day pay increase, contingent on acceptance by the southern operators.

Principal snarl in the deadlocked negotiations for a new contract was the union's asking of elimination of the north-south wage differential, which called for daily wages of $5.60 in the south and $6 in the north.

The southern operators balked at this, offering instead an 11 percent increase, which the union refused.

(From Page One)
The Senate commerce committee was expected to approve within a few days President Roosevelt's request for authority to lease or buy 29 Danish vessels recently seized by the coast guard. The legislation also would empower the chief executive to take over other foreign ships lying idle in American harbors, including the luxury liner Normandie and 13 other French vessels.

Wage Increase By Bethlehem Steel Granted

ments will be made to the group of salaried employees who have formerly participated in general wage increases.

"Approximately 90,000 employees are affected by this increase."

Settlement Of Steel Problem Believed Near

of a work stoppage in "Big Steel" mills.

All indications are that the three-week-old negotiations had produced accord on some wage increase, although there was no hint of the status of other union demands—principally a close shop and shut-off of union dues from the payroll.

"Big Steel" basic wage is now 62 1/2 cents an hour, Philip Murray, CIO president and chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, has estimated a 10-cent hike would add $52,000,000 a year to the corporation's payroll covering 69 plants in 19 states.

Some action is necessary by Tuesday midnight, when the present agreement expires. The SWOC had made detailed plans for a work stoppage at 12 U. S. Steel subsidiaries last Tuesday, but negotiations were extended when the National Steel Corporation suddenly announced a 10-cent increase. A number of other producers followed suit, and SWOC leaders—saying not one word further about a walk-out—freely predicted "Big Steel" would take a similar step.

Standards set with U. S. Steel would likely make the pace for 700-odd other manufacturing and fabricating concerns with which the SWOC claims to have contracts covering 650,000 persons.

The agreement which expired April 1 had run unchanged since obtained in March, 1937. It had made labor history in that it signaled U. S. Steel's first recognition of a union and represented one of the greatest gains of the then-youthful CIO.

Minister From Denmark Will Ignore Recall

his own way to protect the interests of the Danish ship owners. Some time ago, he said, he advised the Copenhagen government that requisitioning of the Danish ships was inevitable and that Danish protests would have no effect.

Diplomatic quarters here were inclined to look upon the order to De Kauffmann as a German-inspired effort to discredit him because of the Greenland agreement, and the United States counter move was expected to be an assertion that the government would continue to recognize the minister as representative of the people of Denmark.

For him to be married by a priest. "Both of us wish it could be a church service," he said.

Roosevelt, a captain in the Marines at San Diego, spends most of his leave at his film studio in Culver City. He already has produced a feature-length picture and a number of slot-machine musicals.

Miss Schneider, a native of Independence, Wis., attended La Crosse, Wis., State Teachers College and graduated from St. Mary's School of Nursing at Rochester, Minn. When Roosevelt went to the Mayo clinic for an operation in 1938, she was assigned as his special nurse.

Roosevelt has a three-day leave for his honeymoon, which must be "within three hours of San Diego," he said. The couple will live in a San Diego apartment.

Even as Russia was completing the agreement, the press published prominently a foreign office communiqué rebuking Hungary for invading Yugoslavia. It was a reproof similar to that sent Bulgaria several weeks ago for permitting German troops to enter.

Lives Of 4 Taken In Break

"bag" bandit gang, were under 15-to-30 year sentences each for armed robbery. McGale, a Bronx bandit, was serving 15 years. All had long police records.

After killing Hartye, they quickly overpowered the only other guard on duty, Matteo De Simone, rushed him down from the third floor ward to a sub-basement, and locked him in.

Cowed patients made no outcry, and it was not until 3:30 a. m. (EST)—a half hour after the break occurred—that Sing Sing's siren sounded the alarm. This was when the guards failed to make their regular telephone report.

Meanwhile the three desperadoes had unlocked two barred passages with prison keys obtained from an undiscovered source and crawled through a service tunnel to a railroad siding outside the grounds.

Fleeing on foot, they encountered a pursuing Cossack patrol car and in the gun battle that followed, Patrolman Fagan, one of two men in the car, and Waters were shot to death.

Unwounded, the two other convicts apparently abandoned a plan to reach a parked car near the Ossining railroad station in which police later found a machine gun.

They ran to the Hudson river and commandeered a boat owned by Charles Rohr Jr., a shad fisherman. They forced him at gunpoint to row them across to the Palisades Interstate Park, thickly wooded at that point.

Following quickly on their trail—the break and capture all fell within eight hours—state, park and local police immediately organized one of the greatest searches in the history of the area.

The police cordon, stretching 26 miles from the western New Jersey approach to the George Washington bridge in Upper Manhattan to Bear Mountain, gradually closed in, stopping and searching all cars.

Four coast guard vessels patrolled the Hudson river, cutting off all possibility of back-tracking across the water. A state police plane cruised low overhead.

After the capture of Lewis E. Lawes said "we are going to have a couple of murder trials."

Earlier, he telephoned Gov. Herbert H. Lehman at Albany that preliminary inquiry had absolved the slain guard and De Simone, the other infirmary keeper, of any complicity.

Lawes said an investigation was under way to determine how the fugitives had obtained their guns and—ever more of a mystery to prison officials—gained access to the carefully guarded keys.

The southern bloc, composed of 13 operator groups, bolted the joint Appalachian wage conference last Friday after northern operators agreed to a union demand for a $1 a day pay increase, contingent on acceptance by the southern operators.

Principal snag in the deadlocked negotiations for a new contract was the union's asking of elimination of the north-south wage differential, which called for daily wages of $5.60 in the south and $6 in the north.

The southern operators balked at this, offering instead an 11 percent increase, which the union refused.

The Senate commerce committee was expected to approve within a few days President Roosevelt's request for authority to lease or buy 25 Danish vessels recently seized by the coast guard. The legislation also would empower the chief executive to take over other foreign ships lying idle in American harbors, including the luxury liner Normandie and 13 other French vessels.

Some action is necessary by Tuesday midnight, when the present agreement, twice extended from April 1, expires. The SWOC had made detailed plans for a work stoppage at 12 U. S. Steel subsidiaries last Tuesday, but negotiations were extended when the National Steel Corporation suddenly announced a 10-cent increase.

A number of other producers followed suit, and SWOC leaders—saying not one word further about a walk-out—freely predicted "Big Steel" would take a similar step.

Standards set with U. S. Steel would likely mark the pace for 700 other manufacturing and fabricating concerns with which the SWOC claims to have contracts covering 650,000 persons.

The agreement which expired April 1 had run unchanged since obtained in March, 1937. It had made labor history in that it signified U. S. Steel's first recognition of a union and represented one of the greatest gains of the then-youthful CIO.

Minister From Denmark Will Ignore Recall

his own way to protect the interests of the Danish ship owners. Some time ago, he said, he advised the Copenhagen government that requisitioning of the Danish ships was inevitable and that Danish protests would have no effect.

Diplomatic quarters here were inclined to look upon the order to De Kauffmann as a German-inspired effort to discredit him because of the Greenland agreement, and the United States counter move was expected to be an assertion that the government would continue to recognize the minister as representative of the people of Denmark.
